

To Our Valued Customer,

In our efforts to maintain the integrity of BrownTrout™ and our related brands, which include Brush Dance™, Plato™, Wyman™, and ViewPoint™, along with protecting the tremendous investment of our licensors, who entrust their globally recognized and respected properties to us as their custodians, we are enforcing standards on the distribution of our published products on worldwide online markets. Due to the global nature of ecommerce and the particularly unsafe environment created by certain websites for consumers, rife with fraudulent, low-quality, unofficial, bootlegged, copycat, and misleading products and information, we must restrict sales of our products on Amazon and its related channels. This change will not impact the ability of our customers to sell on their own online platforms, but it does forbid our customers from selling our products on any Amazon website, including their various domestic and international marketplaces. We make this change knowing that having multiple vendors for the same item on Amazon is detrimental to our brand and confusing for the public.

By signing this acknowledgement and purchasing BrownTrout products, our esteemed retail partners agree that our products are not to be listed or resold on Amazon.com or any affiliated entity of Amazon.com, Inc. or Amazon.com Services LLC.

We appreciate your cooperation in this matter and look forward to a fun, productive, and lucrative calendar season for everyone.

Sincerely,

Mike Brown, CEO
BrownTrout Publishers, Inc.
